

MOUNTAINSMITH LILY: $99

Ideal Use: Long day hike or overnigher. One pack, multiple purposes. The Lily is probably too much pack for a two-mile hike, but if you're putting in extra miles or going for an overnigher, this is your bag. The frame is molded specifically for women and offers the quality of load dispersion usually only found on long-haul packs. And it's one of the only daypacks with sleeping pad straps. Our tester kept adding weight to the Lily during a long hike up Shut In Ridge along the Parkway and never felt overburdened. www.mountainsmith.com.
